this means that each year in indiana, there are about 20 - 30 babies born with this condition there is still a limited understanding of the basic mechanisms and processes triggered by laser irradiation that lead to the damaging of the surrounding structures